

THE REFLECTOR

1949

DEDICATION

DEDICATION

We, the Class of 1949, desire to dedicate this edition of the Reflector to our beloved parents.

Their devotion to the principles of education and the maintenance of a pleasant atmosphere have earned our lasting respect. Without their understanding sympathy, and many sacrifices, we could not have attained our height of knowledge.

We dedicate to our successors the satisfaction and joy of grasping the vast opportunities which are offered through the duration of their future years.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Richard Mason Merts, who died August 26, 1948.

We, the Seniors of 1949, will always remember Richard as a very dear classmate.

Class History

FRESHMAN YEAR

In September 1945, we, as a new freshman class, entered the doors of Christiany High. We were to spend four years in work, fun, and laughter in the rooms and corridors of this school. We had a class enrollment of 46 members.

The first thing we did was to organize our class. Our officers were:

President -----	Eugene Forler
Vice-President -----	Joan Cooley
Secretary-Treasurer -	Evelyn Buxton
Program Chairman --	Joyce Rumpel
Sponsor -----	Mrs. Maas

After a very few short weeks, the seniors had the pleasure of initiating us, which was very amusing to all.

Evelyn Buxton was elected as our candidate for Basketball Queen.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

When we came back as Sophomores, several of our members were missing. They were: George Brown, Irene Smith, Albert Duncan, Catherine Hasenmeyer, Richard Coyner, Margie Litherland.

The following became additional members: Betty Lorenz, Jack McCullough, Viola Richard, and Ann Teverbaugh.

At an early class meeting the following class officers were elected:

President -----	Jack McCullough
Vice-President -----	James Mosby
Secretary-Treasurer -	Anna Lois Vance
Program Chairman --	Evelyn Buxton
Sponsor -----	Miss Blue

Jean Underhill was elected as our candidate for Basketball Queen.

From our class Voila Richard was elected Yell Leader.

In March we were very happy to order our class rings.

The following boys played on the basketball team: Tom Fleming, Marion Gaston, Eugene Forier, and Marian Price.

JUNIOR YEAR

When the school bell rang in the Fall of 1947, those missing from our class were: Raymond Greathouse, Mary Beard, Ann Teverbaugh, Danny Stoneburger, Joan Cooley, Garland Southwood, and Jack McCullough.

The only new student was Chris Leiberling, who came from Dale High School.

We elected the following class officers:

President ----- Eugene Forier
Vice-President ----- Voila Richard
Secretary-Treasurer -- Jean Underhill
Program Chairman --- Anna Lois Vance
Sponsor ----- Mrs. Banister

Jean Underhill was again our candidate for Basketball Queen.

We received our class rings the first of September and our sweaters in the Spring. They were gray and red.

We sold magazine subscriptions for the Curtis Publishing Company in order to get money for the Junior and Senior Banquet. The Rainbow Theme was carried out with Chris Leiberling acting as Toastmaster. Joyce Rumpel, Jo Ayer, Marion Gaston, and Tommy May were the student speakers. Mr. Carl Engelbrecht was guest speaker.

During this year the Student Council was revised. Gene Newton, Joyce Rumpel, Jo Ann Griepenstroh represented our class. Voila Richard was elected Vice-President.

During the Class Tourney, we showed up very favorably by beating the Freshmen in the first game and losing to the Sophomores by only two points in the final game.

SENIOR YEAR

In September 1948, we took the dignified section on the last lap of our journey. Those who failed to return were Betty Daugherty, and Earl Howell. Richard Merz was killed in a motorcycle accident a week before school began.

During the last semester, Thomas Fleming quit and Judy Allen Ayer came in to complete her last semester of work.

Officers chosen were:

President ----- Joyce Rumpel
Vice-President ----- Gene Newton
Secretary-Treasurer - Jo Ann Griepenstroh
Program Chairman -- James Mosby
Sponsor ----- Mr. Adams

Anna Lois Vance was elected President of the Student Council. The other representatives for our class are Doris Ayer, Lionel Varner, and Voila Richard.

Several members continued in other activities. Those playing in the band are Jo Ann Griepenstroh, Chris Leiberling, Voila Richard, Grace Thomas, and Mary Thomas. Those in chorus are Doris Ayer, Jo Ann Griepenstroh, Betty Lorenz, and Edna Tichenor.

Eugene Forler and Marion Gaston have completed four years on the varsity basketball team while Lionel Varner has completed two years. Voila Richard has served as Yell Leader for the past three years.

The members of the Class of '49 are as follows:

Doris Ayer	Jeanie Haynes	Voila Richard
Judy A. Ayer	Eugene Hessig	Joyce Rumpel
Tillie Ayer	Joyce Jackson	Grace Thomas
Harry Beasley	Chris Leiberling	Mary Thomas
Kenneth Beasley	Betty Lorenz	Edna Tichenor
Evelyn Buxton	Gyneth Ludwig	Jean Underhill
Dorothy Carlton	Richard McCoy	Anna Lois Vance
Nelda Dunn	Robert McDaniel	Lionel Varner
Eugene Forler	James Mosby	Mary Wasinger
Marion Gaston	Gene Newton	Leonard White
Jo Ann Griepenstroh	Marian Price	Norma Wirthwein

Class Motto: CLIMB THOUGH THE ROCKS BE RUGGED.

Class Flower: Red Rose.

CLASS PROPHECY

VISIONS OF 1959

Taking an airplane tour of this enormous and beautiful country, I stopped by these various towns and cities and these are some of my high school chums of Christianey, Class of 1949.

As I started on my trip I went to the ticket agent at the Municipal Airport at Evansville and there I found Grace Thomas working in the ticket office. After that I boarded the plane and who should fasten my safety belt, the stewardess, Mary Thomas. While talking to her she told me that an old school friend of mine, Edna Tichenor was married to Bob Laymon, had four kids and was living on a little farm near Evansville.

Landing in Omaha, Nebraska, the first person I met was Robert E. McDaniel, who is a used car dealer. After talking to him I learned that Gene Newton and Jimmy Mooby were Chief Petty Officers in the Navy. I went up to the Dew Drop Inn Hotel to get a room for the night. After getting a room, I took an elevator to the 10th floor and to my surprise I found my elevator girl, was none other than Dorothy Carlton. The next day, being a sunny morning in June, I called a taxi to take me to the airport. Soon a cab came to a screaming halt in front of the house. Just as I was sneaking out the back door the landlord, who was Chris Leiberling, stopped me for the weeks rent that I owed him. After paying him off, I got into the taxi and after taking a few corners, I noticed the driver was Marlan Price. On the way to the airport a policeman who was Marion Gaston, stopped us for going through a stop sign. By being old schoolmates he let me off easy at a $50.00 fine.

I boarded a plane for Cheyenne, Wyoming, where I got off to find Doris Lee Ayers, the wife of John Sirel, M. D., with a beautiful house and two kids, a boy of seven and a girl of four playing in the yard. After visiting with her for a few days I journeyed on to California.

Since I had been traveling for such a long time, I thought I might rest a little by taking in a Ballet Dance. I was absolutely astonished to find Neida Dunn as the ballet dancer. After the dance I talked to her awhile and she told me that Betty Lorens was married to an actor and was living in Hollywood, California.

I thought that since I was in California, I would drop by Hollywood. There I found Viola Richard as a famous night club singer. She told me that Jean Underhill and her husband owned the place and she also told me that Anna Lois Vance was a secretary in a large business organization in New York.

I boarded another plane for Miami, Florida, and the pilot of the plane was none other than Lionel Varner. As I was going to Florida, we had a wreck and they called an ambulance and I noticed the driver was another old school friend of mine, Leonard White. We finally reached the Cat's Paw Hospital and the first two people I saw in there were Evelyn Buxton and Jo Ann Griepenstroh as nurses. After staying in there for three weeks with a sprained ankle, I decided to finish the trip by bus.

When I finally reached Miami, I went out to the beach for a sun bath. I noticed a crowd of boys a little farther down the beach. I asked a lady what the crowd of boys were doing there. She told me they were gathered around the bathing beauty. I asked the lady who she was and she told me it was Norma Wirthwein. After crowding my way through, I finally got to talk to her. She told me she had been elected as the bathing beauty of Florida. She also invited me out to lunch with her and I went. We were talking of old times and she said she had seen Gyneth Ludwig on the street the other day and talked to her for a while and Gyneth told her that she had married her old school-days sweetheart.

I went up town to one of the famous stores to do some shopping and someone stole my purse. I called the manager who was Eugene Forler. I was so surprised that I forgot all about my purse. He told me that the Beasley boys, Harry and Kenneth, operated a garage on the other side of town.

I knew I couldn't spend too much time at one place, so I journeyed on to Charleston, West Virginia. At the station, where I got off, I found Mary Wanfager waiting for the next bus to go to Indiana to visit her folks. Inquiring, I learned she had married Lawrence Spaetti, and he was in the Air Corps.

I wanted a little amusement, so I went to the Strand Theatre where Tommy Dorsey was on stage and Richard McCoy was comedian.

Staying all night in Charleston, the next morning I caught a bus to Cincinnati, Ohio. Here I found the former Tillie Ayers, now Mrs. Shirley DeVillea, the wife of a prominent business man with a cute little blonde headed girl. She told me she was very happy.

From there I went to New York, New York. I picked up the New York Daily and was looking through it. I noticed a face that looked familiar. Observing very closely, I saw that it was Joyce Rumpel, who was now running for the first Woman President of the United States. I went up town window shopping. In one window, I saw a beautiful evening dress. The temptation was too much for me. I went into the store to have it modeled for me. Here came a beautiful model. I thought the girl looked very familiar. I was almost certain I knew this girl. Finally it came to me she was one of my old schoolmates, Joyce Jackson. She said she really liked her work.

From New York, I started to Indiana. I stopped off at Terre Haute to find Jeanie Haynes, a beauty operator in a little shop of her own. She told me she enjoyed her work very much.

Since I was running low on finances and time, I thought I should be heading back toward home. Coming through the northern part of Spencer County, I came through Evanston. Remembering that that was where Eugene Hessig lived, I asked the driver to let me off there. The driver looked at me as though he thought I was crazy or something. Finally, he said that it was very unusual for anyone to get off here. Getting off anyway, I struck out to find Eugene. I finally had to bribe someone to tell me where he was. Behold at last I found him, way out in the country, living in a cave. He told me he had a little business of making corn squeezers, and he had to live out there to hide from the revenuers. Bidding Eugene, his wife and twelve kids good-bye, I came to Chrisney.

Here I found Judy Ayer living with her husband who is a very well known school teacher and coach.

It was nice knowing that all my old schoolmates were well and happy. I regret I couldn't visit longer. Here's wishing good luck to each and everyone of them.

P. T. A. CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

On Monday, December 20, 1948, at 8:00 o'clock, Chrisney presented its annual Christmas program in the school gym. Approximately one hundred boys and girls participated in this presentation which was centered around the familiar Christmas carols.

The high school band, the combined choruses, and a group of primary children made up the participants with various solos, duets, and ensembles taking part throughout the program.

This program was climaxed with a cantata, entitled, "The Christmas Story" which told the familiar Christmas story in music and song.

Martha Wittman, a sophomore, was the Narrator and read the Christmas story as given in the Bible.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM

Since the month of February is known as "Americanization Month" about 60 students of Chrisney High School presented a patriotic pageant in the Chrisney School Gymnasium on Monday, February 14 at 8:00 o'clock.

The purpose of this program was to emphasize Democracy and what it means to us.

The pageant was centered around a teen-age boy and girl discussing America and what it means to them. Eleven speakers expressed their viewpoints by answering the questions of the boy and girl in a most convincing manner.

Throughout the pageant the girls of the chorus expressed their patriotism and love of America in song and choral readings.

A bugler, flag bearer, and color guards presented the flag and the American Legion and the Auxiliary came in as a body and presented their colors.

Class Poem

I'll introduce you to the Seniors
The class of forty-nine
And in years to come
For C. H. S. they will pine.

I'm thinking of a red head,
This one we all should know,
Her name is Voila Richard
But we usually call her "Vo."

A gay little one in our gang,
Always there when the fun begins,
Applying lipstick, or combing her hair,
You can bet it's Betty Lorena.

He drives a blue Plymouth,
I think he's sort of nice,
The girls all seem to like him,
His name is Marlan Price.

A cage of monkeys is funny
And Tillie is the same
Always calling someone a "yo-yo",
Or another silly name.

Now when you speak of intelligence,
Joyce Rumpel comes in mind;
And if you'd look through the class,
Not a better one you'd find.

Eugene Hessig comes from Evanston,
He's nice to have around,
If you want to see him strut,
Just mention his home town.

Eugene Furler is a handsome lad,
And when it comes to basketball,
Or fascinating the ladies,
He's a really not bad at all.

We know a handsome brute,
His name is Richard McCoy.
We all like his charming ways
And consider him a clever boy.

The one who has an Oida,
The one we often see,
Always going from town to town,
His name is Lionel V.

Now there is Jeanie Haynes,
A nurse she'd like to be,
With her wonderful personality
Success she'll surely see.

Gene Newton is the best liked of all,
Indeed he is quite a Romeo;
He studies and works at everything,
That's why the girls all like him so.

When it comes to hard work,
We think of Chris L.,
All his classmates like him;
Even the teachers think he's swell.

Edna is always on the go,
She is lively and quick,
When it comes to going to Evansville,
She always works it slick.

My idea of a perfect girl,
One that doesn't have a match,
Norma Wirthwein is the one,
At a chance her heart I would snatch.

Honey is sweet we all know
Sugar is too. That's sure to be.
These names remind us of Jo Ann;
For they suit her to a "T".

We have a Mrs. in our class,
Her name is Judy Ayer.
We think her nice and good
As she is smart and fair.

When we think of Beasley
We always think of two.
They're shy and they're nice
Harry and Kenneth too.

Kenneth's hair is black
While Harry's hair is light
And in their classroom recitations
They appear to be very bright.

Another, very studious lad,
Is that dark headed Leonard White,
He must stay at home a lot,
For we never see him out at night.

Then there are the Thomas girls
They're both so very cute
And quiet and friendly, too;
As swell classmates, they sure do suit.

Mary is the one's name who
Is mighty like a rose;
And Grace is the other,
Who has the proper pose.

Jean Underhill, the dark haired girl,
Is rated high, when it comes to looks;
And has a personality that is tops,
She is quite sharp in her books.

Nelda Dunn is a quiet girl,
Who hasn't much to say;
But by looking sweet and pretty,
She hopes to be a bride someday.

I know a very lucky girl,
Her heart is in a trance,
Always dreaming of her soldier boy,
Her name is Anna Lois Vance.

A lad we all know is Robert Earl,
Who really gets around;
But when it comes to square deals
His practices are very sound.

Doris Ayer is a bright one,
Always happy and gay,
There's no doubt about it
She'll go through life that way.

Evelyn wants to be a nurse,
We don't know why or where!
But we do know she'll be happy
In the uniform she will wear.

A girl who's very charming,
And very nice to know
Is that light haired Mary W.
Who's always just so so.

Jim Mosby, the tall and slender lad,
Who really likes to dance;
With his friendly ways and cute grin,
He keeps the girls in a trance.

Dorothy Carlton is very bright,
And she lives up Troy way;
She will be a guitar expert,
For I hear she likes to play.

Now Red Gaston is the ideal,
He has a religious sort of way.
If he keeps up the good works,
He may be a minister some day.

A very cute girl in our class
Who's very hard to beat
We all know is Gyneth L.,
And she's always very neat.

Now you've met them all
Everyone is swell
From their teaching at school,
Their sure to turn out swell.

SCHOOL FUN

We, Seniors, who regretfully realize that some of our most joyous days are over, recall to you some humorous happenings which happened to us at good old Chrisney High School. WE REMEMBER WHEN.....

Initiation day approached us early in our Freshman year, and the Seniors of '46 made us wear vegetable corages, pigtails, green clothing, and that's just a sample of what we went through! We certainly represented "greenies".....

In our silly Sophomore year Joyce, Anna Lois, and Jean burst balloon bubbles in Mr. Meas' history class and the good hearted (?) boys took the blame.....

From our Junior year, Miss Blue always had to keep the time clock in her pocket to keep Eugene Hessig from setting the alarm.... Our former classmate, Ann Teverbough, had a very strong liking for peaches, as she ate them three times a day.....Marian's diary was found and his numerous little "love affairs" were soon known.....That blush which came over Robert Earl's face when he came out dressed for the class tourney (Oh, what a physique).....

Our industrious Senior year, when our "giggle girls" Doris and Tillie, made it possible for Mr. Newton to give us a laughing period in government class every day.....We senior girls gave our daily glass of milk to Chris Letbering so he could require enough strength to blow his sousaphone in the band.....Mr. Adams tried to tell us that we were one of the dumbest classes of C. H. C., but we knew better!!! Mary Waininger had reached government class one morning before she discovered that she had forgotten to change shoes; she was in her house slippers.....Several senior girls put a big stray dog in Marian's car trunk and he never found it for two days.....Mr. Newton arranged for us, seniors, to go to Evansville to see President Truman and Jimmy Mosby sang to us all the way (Gee, what a voice!);.....On Monday mornings Lionel would return to school with a sad appearance, then tell us of the police fine his father paid over the week end just because of Lionel's carelessness.....

And last, but not least, we especially remember the rainy day when some freshmen pushed Gene Newton in a ditch at noon, and he spent the afternoon in the cook's kitchen drying himself and peeling potatoes.....

Class Will

We, the Seniors of Chrisney High School, Class of 1949, do hereby make and publish this, our last will and testament, making void all other wills or promises made by us at previous time.

To our beloved and faithful sponsor, Mr. Adams, we leave sincere affection and deepest gratitude.

To the rest of the faculty, we wish to return all the amazing knowledge we have received from them in our four years in high school, as we will have no further use for it. They are authorized to distribute this knowledge as they see fit.

To the coming senior class, we leave our wonderful ability to get along well with the teachers, our love of fellow classmates, and our senior dignity.

We give to next year's junior class our jolly mood and happy-go-lucky ways.

To next year's sophomores, we will our good looks, the boys' ability to play basketball and their places on the gym floor.

To the freshmen, we leave our seats in the study hall provided they take good care of and let no harm come to them.

As individuals, we leave the following to underclassmen:

I, Eugene Hessig, will my manly build to John Thomas.

Mary Waninger leaves to Earl Dupont her quiet ways.

I, Robert Earl McDaniel, leave to Kenneth Pruess the shooting of firecrackers in typing class.

Marian Price gives to Ralph Beren his popularity with the senior girls.

Anna Lois Vance leaves her naturally curly hair to Mary Ellen Mosby.

I, James Mosby, will my love for hill-billy music to Doris Ann Rice.

Joyce Rumpel leaves to Lois Byrne her ability to argue politics with Mr. Newton.

Jeanie Haynes gives her friendly disposition to Katherine Painter.

I, Marilyn Jean Underhill, bequeath my refreshed look in the morning to Bobbie Jo Hagan.

I, Leonard White, leave to Max Powers my black wavy hair.

Jo Ann Gripenstroh leaves her drum in the High School band to Deanie Snyder.

Nelda Dunn leaves to Alberts Polster her quiet and easy-going ways.

I, Dorothy Carlton, bequeath my ability to read shorthand to Carol Doyle.

Harry Beasley wills his 'specs' to Walter Lee Beumel.

Kenneth Beasley leaves his accent to Wilbert Polster.

I, Tillie Lee Ayers, will my ability to drive a car to Norma Jean Smith.

Judith Marie Ayers wishes to leave her figure to Joanne Cotton.

Grace Thomas leaves her art of staying single to June Tullis.

Joyce Jackson leaves her late hours to Evelyn Dunn.

Evelyn Buxton wills her beautiful dark brown eyes to Oleta Rust.

I, Doris Ayers, will my sleeping in class and getting by with it to Wandalea Johnson.

Eugene Forler wills his 'cute' smile to Joyce Gooch.

I, Marion Gaston, wish to leave my height to Elaine Price.

I, Chris Leiberling, leave my loud and distinct voice to Mr. Adams.

Betty Lorenz leaves her ability to meet famous radio stars to her sister, Jeanne.

Lionel Varner leaves his dimples and his lazy ways to Karol Kramer.

Gyneth Ludwig wills her ability to get her lessons to Cora May Doyle.

I, Richard McCoy, find that I will be unable to part with any of my talent.

Edna Tichenor wills her walk to Lila Ann May.

Mary Thomas wills to Joan Hertzling her desk and all that goes with it.

Gene Newton wills his art of skipping school to Danny Thomas.

Norma Wirthwein wills all her pretty clothes to all the girls that can use them.

We, hereby certify this to be our last will and attach our signature hereto for the Class of '49.
